CALL RICHARDSON MASTER WORKMAN

EYES WERE WET AT ALUMNI BANQUET LAST NIGHT.

EXPRESS DEEP DEVOTION

Retiring President Urges Continued Service to College and New Head —Officers Elected.

The highest of compliments, that of comparison to "The Master Workman," an an unlimited amount of sincere respect and devotion was paid President Ira Richardson of the State Teachers College, whose resignation takes effect at the end of the summer quarter, by the Alumni Association at its annual banquet last night. The toast to Dr. Richardson in behalf of the Association, was given by Mrs. A. T. Estes.

In response to the beautiful toast which was given him, Doctor Richardson, deeply moved, said, "I would be much less a man if I did not greatly appreciate the tribute paid me. I have asked all day that this hour would pass."

"In reference to his own life he said, "Sometimes I feel that it would be better to begin all over again."

Tears were shed by those who have been closely associated with the retiring president. In his talk, Mr. Richardson spoke of his own life as a school teacher up until the time he became president of the State Normal, now the State Teachers College. In speaking of the future of the Alumni association, he emphasized noble service, urged it still to keep on building up the College, to co-operate and support the new president, Uel W. Lamkin, and to promote class reunions. In closing, he spoke of the tender memories which he would always hold of his association with students and fellows workers here and thanked the Alumni for their gift to Mrs. Richardson.

The banquet was one of the most successful held in the history of the school. Over one hundred attended. Previous to the banquet, the election of officers was held when Miss Lucile Holmes was chosen president; Miss Alma Lucas, vice-president and Miss Nell Hudson secretary and treasurer.

The theme of the talks was "The Harvest Field" with Lowell Livengood of Elmo as toastmaster. Pleasing vocal numbers were given by Miss Mae Corwin and Mrs. Fred P. Robinson. Miss Lois K. Halley gave an excellent toast on "Cultivation," comparing the school and campus to a large field with the teachers as laborers, the students as the seeds, and the studies and equipment as the tools. S. C. Richeson of Tina gave a humorous talk on "Fruits of the Field," Miss Nell Hudson gave a toast on "Future Productions," and Miss Bernice Rutledge gave a talk on "Implements Used." The last toast was "The Master Workman" by Mrs. A. T. Estes, followed by President Richardson's talk.

The basement of the First Baptist Church, where the banquet was held, was attractively decorated in roses and miniature bouquets were given as favors. The banquet was served by the women of the First Baptist church. Miss Lucile Holmes, vice-president of the organization for 1920-21, acted in arranging the details of the banquet in the absence of the president, Lowell Livengood, who was unable to be here until a short time previous to the banquet.

The members of the Alumni Association having degrees also elected officers last night in perfecting their organization which was began at the end of the summer quarter last year. Those elected were president, Miss Mattie Dykes; vice president, Miss Frances Holliday; secretary and treasurer, Miss Minnie James.

Maryville Party Has Good Time While Showing Chamber of Commerce Film at Community Meeting

The Oak Hill Farm Club entertained about 250 members and visitors at a community meting at the Oak Hill church last night. A party from Maryville represented the Chamber of Commerce and showed the secretary's report in moving pictures. A comedy was also taken out by the Maryville men, and although the film broke when near the end, it was greatly appreciated.

R. P. Hosmer, president of the Chamber of Commerce explained the pictures. W. L. Rhodes took an Edison talking machine and Ernest Lunsford gave a vocal solo. Other Maryville people who attended were J. R. Lowry, Paul Kuehs, Ralph Marcell, Garland White, Arch Frank, Fred Hull, F. W. Crow, George Pickens, G. B. Roseberry and Newt Hagins.

After the pictures, refreshments were served by the farm club, consisting, according to Secretary Pickens, of sandwiches and more kinds of cake than he knew existed.

Another group of Maryville people will drive to the Salem church, ten miles south, where the film will be shown tonight at an ice cream social given for the benefit of the church.

T. K. Wray and daughter, Miss Leska of Red Oak, Ia., former Maryville residents, visited relatives here over Sunday.

Mrs. Roy Wolbert and daughter, Maude, of Creston, Ia. were guests in Maryville Sunday of Miss Ethel Muntz.

CITY TAX LEVIES TOTAL 7 3-4 MILLS

TOTAL LAST YEAR WAS 13 MILLS ON $1.00.

WILL ADD TO REVENUE

Doubling of Assessed Valuation Will Make Aggregate Returns Slightly Greater.

The City Council, meeting in its regular monthly session last night, fixed the total city levy for the ensuing year at 7¾ mills on the $1.00 valuation. Last year the levies totaled 13 mills.

The total assessed valuation in 1920 was $2,831,930. This year it was increased to $5,164,123. The new levies, although they are only slightly more than half of last year's will produce between $3,000 and $4,000 more revenue.

The general fund levy was reduced from 4 mills to 3 mills. The library fund levy was decreased from 1 mill to ¾ mill and the street lighting fund levy cut in half, the new levy being 1¼ mills and the old levy 2½ mills.

The levy for the old water interest fund was cut from 2½ mills to ¾ mill, but the levy for the sinking fund on the old water bond issue was increased from ¾ mill to 1 mill. The levy for the new water bond interest fund was cut from 1¼ mills to ½ mill and the sinking fund levy from 1 mill to ½ mill.

The levy for the sinking fund on the old issue was increased to provide for a payment of $10,000, which falls due this year. This payment will decrease the amount of bonds outstanding from $70,000 to $60,000.

The Council also passed an ordinance levying a poll tax of $2 on all able bodied male citizens between the ages of 21 and 50 who have been in the city for thirty days prior to the passage of the ordinance.

A second ordinance imposes a tax of $3 a year on every dog in the city more than three months old, regardless of sex.

Reports were received from the mayor, police judge, fire chief and chief of police and bills approved and allowed. There were four police court cases in the month of May, three of which resulted in convictions and one in acquittal. There were three fires of minor importance.

PACKERS AGAIN ASK FOR PERMISSION TO CUT WAGES

Stockyards Laborers Are in Turmoil Over Request Filed With Judge Alschuler.

Chicago, June 8.—Labor circles in the packing plants owned by the "big five" packers are in turmoil again today as a result of an application filed late yesterday by the packers with Judge Alschuler, arbiter of wage disputes of the packing industry, asking permission to cut wages at the stockyards 5 cents an hour effective June 19.

The packing house unions declined to comment officially today on the latest move of the packers.

The packers in asking wage cuts claim the reductions are indispensable to continued successful operation of the industry. The wage cuts if granted will affect approximately sixty-two thousand men. Should the workers decide not to accept cuts and go on a strike two hundred thousand workers in a half dozen cities will be involved.

G.O.P. TO NAME HAY'S SUCCESSOR

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE MEETS TODAY

MAY BE JOHN F. ADAMS

Prominent Iowan Is Most Probable Selection—Today's Gathering to Be Joyous One

Washington, June 8—The full Republican National Committee met here today for the first time since the Chicago Convention a year ago. It is the first big party meeting of consequence that has been held since the great tidal wave of last November swept the Republicans back into control of the Federal Government.

The party leaders plan to make the meeting here one of jollification and progress—jollification at the success which attended their efforts in 1920 and progress toward the accomplishment of the same ends in the coming Congressional elections of 1922 .

A great number of problems face the committee and their solution will have a far reaching effect on the future of the party. The more important of these are the selection of a new national chairman to succeed Will H. Hays, the diminutive dynamo, who directed last year's sweeping victory, and the proposed reorganization of the party in the south.

John T. Adams, of Iowa, present vice-chairman of the committee, generally is expected to succeed Hays, although A. T. (Tobe) Hert, of Kentucky, and Elmer Dover, of Washington state, also are candidates.

The Republican leaders feel they owe a debt to Adams. He has been a party wheel horse for years, and few men have worked harder or more faithfully for the Republican return to power and affluence than has John T. Adams. Only for a bit of hard luck he would have been in Hays' shoes during the last campaign, and that, too, is remembered by the G. O. P. leaders.

In Payment of Debt Due

When the committee met in St. Louis to take stock of things after the narrow defeat in 1916 the retirement of William R. Wilcox and the election of Adams as chairman was to have been cut and dried. The pledges had been collected and counted for Adams' election.

At the psychological moment opponents of the Iowan produced a letter which he had written, indicating a sympathy for the German viewpoint during the war. This was long before the United States had become involved in the conflict. But with war clouds already rolling up on the American horizon there was a feeling that it would be unwise to elect Adams at that time and provide, possibly, Democratic ammunition in the campaigns ahead. Adams was made vice-chairman and Hays stepped into the chairmanship.

87 SERVICE MEN VISIT RED CROSS

HOME SERVICE SECTION RENDERS AID IN 130 CASES.

TRYING TO GET NURSE

No One Engaged to Succeed Miss Anna Heisler—Roster of Service Men Completed.

Eighty-seven former service men came to the Red Cross rooms for assistance in solving various problems last month, according to Miss Betty Turner of the home service department. These men came from practically every town in the county and every one of them went away satisfied.

The services rendered by the home service section during the month totaled 130. They were tabulated by Miss Turner as follows:

Claims filed, 14; compensation claims followed up, 13; general social service, 35; Government insurance, 1; investigations requested, 6; informations filed, 9; notary public services, 28; foreign service pay, 1; affidavits, 4; Victory Medals, 5; vocational training, 2; loan, $10.00; received in repaid loans, $10.00; certificate in lieu of lost discharge certificate, 2.

Saturday men were here from Conception Jct., Burlington Junction, Bolckow, Clyde, Clearmont, Hopkins, Ravenwood and Maryville. Of these one was here for compensation, two for dental work, two for victory and Missouri medals, and two for general social service work.

Several men from the county have written to Miss Turner to secure medals for them. Several of these are entitled to medals with six bars, one for each battle engaged in. The following men of 4th U. S. Infantry, Third Division are to receive the six bar medals: Francis Popham, Skidmore, Robt. Filson, Hopkins, and Chas. Moffatt, Barnard. These men were in the following engagements: Aisne, Champagne-Marne, Aisne-Marne, St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne, and Defensive Sector.

Miss Turner is able to keep a complete check on all of the service men of the county by means of a complete roster of names. This roster was started by Miss Turner in December, 1917, and is just now completed. In this roster the names and information about every service man in the county can be found.

To date no one has been engaged to fill the vacancy left by Miss Anna Heisler, County Red Cross Nurse, who left last week. The board is in communication with a nurse in Iowa, and if she can be engaged it will prove an asset to the town, as she is a former school teacher and can well carry on the clinics and scool examinations.

DANGER OF PESTILENCE IN PUEBLO IS PASSED

Task of Cleaning Up, However, Will Take Weeks—Waters Recede, Leaving Great, Stagnant Pools.

Pueblo, June 8.—Huge masses of debris that have been piled in the city's streets since Friday are gradually melting today under the unceasing toil of thousands of laborers. The task of cleaning up, however, is so monumental, that it will be weeks before all the business streets are made passable.

Waters of both the Arkansas and Fountain rivers are flowing placidly in their normal channels today, but a great stagnant pool, in some places ten feet deep, could be seen in the low lying sections.

Seven thousand persons are being fed by relief organizations. All danger of pestilence is passed, according to public health officials.

JAILED FOR STEALING CAR —BUT IT WAS ALL A JOKE

Commander Ed Condon and Reuben Hall Are Punished by V. F. W. Comrades—Others Also Suffer.

Thirty minutes in the city jail was the sentence imposed on Commander Ed Condon and Reuben Hall by their comrades of the Seth Ray David Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for appropriating the automobile of Chaplain Theodore Robinson last night. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Leo Atherton, and the sentence enforced by a committee composed of Robinson, Clyde Sawyers, Floyd Tallman, James Anderson, Jack Pennington, Francis Bluell and Ray O'Grady.

The group of veterans were gathered at Pennington's restaurant and a ride to Guilford was suggested. Condon and Hall got in Robinson's car and drove off, intending to return for the owner when he had finished his meal. After a hasty conference, however, the latter "framed up" with Deputy Sheriff Atherton to arrest the two comrades for theft of the car.

After releasing the "car thieves" the post members decided to inflict similar sentences on other members who have been derelict in attending meetings. Tom Hickman and Pierre Karr, found with "dates" at the Empire Theatre, were handcuffed and put in solitary confinement at the county jail. More searching found Dr. C. M. Cline, Murray Welling and Lloyd Heifner, each of whom was duly incarcerated.

Meanwhile one of the original prisoners, Hall, had escaped, and the town was thoroughly scoured, but he remained hidden, although only a few feet from the searchers at times. Condon joined the committee.

The evening was ended with "eats" and drinks.

G. O. P. PARTY TO NAME HAY'S SUCCESSOR

There was no reflection upon Adams in the matter in any and this was well understood at the time by all concerned. The incidents of the meeting are fresh in the minds of the members meeting today, however, and the elevation of Adams to the chairmanship is generally looked upon as the payment of a debt long past due.

Southern Problem Difficult

The knotty problem before the committee is the Southern reorganization. The Progresive and Independent elements in the party have long chafed at the degree of representation accorded the Southern wing of the party in the nominating conventions. They have been seen every four years a solidly Democratic State like Alabama which never has cast an electoral vote for the Republican candidate come up to Chicago with fourteen delegates, who usually swung when swinging was needed. And they have seen a rock-ribbed Republican State like Vermont come up with only eight delegates who usually come knowing how they were going to vote and then sticking to it.

The Progresives and Independents say that this isn't right—that the delegates should be apportioned on the basis of Republican voting strength as shown by the last election and not upon a presumed Republican population which seldom gets to the polls in some Southern States.

The proposed reorganization of the party in the South has been brought to a head at this time because factional differences in the party in Georgia make necessary a reorganization there in any event. Inasmuch as a reorganization must be effected in Georgia it is felt that the time is ripe to make it general.

What Missouri Farmers Are Doing!

County Agent Roberts of Saline county already has made arrangements with C. E. Carter of the University of Missouri, College of Agriculture staff, to visit Saline county this fall about the time the corn matures and stage a series of demonstrations on how to select corn for show purposes.

In view of the recent attempts of certain railroad officials to have public highways closed to transportation, the following extract from a recent issue of the U. S. Government Market Reporter, is illuminating: "It is interesting to note that the cost of ocean transportation (on eggs) from San Francisco to London, direct, is 5 cents a dozen or $1.50 a case, whereas the transcontinental freight rates from San Francisco to New York and other eastern points is 7 cents a dozen." If the railroads interests eversucceeded in having a system of toll collections imposed for use of the public highways and waterways, they would have things all their own way.

According to County Agent Kinniard of Nodaway county, there is one case on record where shooting the bull is commendable. That is in connection with the Better Bulls contest now in progress in Missouri, which already has resulted in more than 200 scrub sires being banished from the state.

According to statistics gathered by the co-operative crop reporting service, Nodaway county with 188, 167 acres planted to corn led the state in 1920. St. Charles county with 87,432 acres of wheat led in that grain, while Audrain county with 76,382 acres of oats was the banner bearer in that respect. Clark county led the list with 4,687 acres of rye and Perry with 1,699 acres of barley topped the other counties of the state in that respect. St. Louis county cultivated 5,593 acres of potatoes and Platte county devoted 2,467 acres to growing tobacco.

Entries in the Saline County Corn Contest now number 133 growers as a result of a "drive" made by county agent Roberts. Two weeks ago there were only 55 entries. The contest this year bids fair to be the best ever held in the state.

The bulk of sales of important farm products has dropped to 1914 prices or lower, according to statistics compiled by the co-operative crop reporting service of Missouri. Comparisons of prices in May, 1914 with May, 1921, prices (1914 prices first in each case) show: Fate hogs, $7.60 against $7.20; beef cattle $6.90 against $6.20; veal calves, $7.70 against $6.80; sheep, $4.60 against $4.60; wool, 19 cents against 17 cents; milk cows, $60 against $54; horses, $124 against $75; corn 78 cents against 62 cents; oats 46 cents against 46 cents. Farmers generally are realizing that their only hope of salvation is through efficient organization locally, and in state-wide and nation-wide associations.

The county court of Pike county is coming to appreciate the value of the county farm bureau. The court has increased the annual appropriation for the work from $650 to $780 a year for the next three years. County Agent E. R. Keller reports that through the activity of the county farm bureau more than 900 tons of ground limestone have been used in that county since last fall. A farmers' elevator and warehouse association with a membership of 75 per cent of the grain growers of the vicinity was organized recently at Clarksville.

R. J. Duckett, secretary of the recently-organized Wayne County Farm Bureau, reports that a membership drive organized by townships is contemplated by the executive committee.

Wool growers of Linn county are again pooling their wool clip it is reported. The Linn county pool is a Farm Bureau project.

Financial support for the Farm Bureau in that county has been voted by the Webster County Court.

The Callaway County Farm Bureau recently superised the distribution of a large shipment of heifers purchased in Southwest Missouri for the calf clubs at Fulton, McCredie ahd New Bloomfield.

C. C. Schuttler, president of the St. Francois County Farm Bureau has been delegated to buy a carload of 27 registered heifers for distribution in that county. The cattle are to be purchased in Ohio.

County Agent C. W. Vetter is planning the organization of a number of livestock breeders' associations in Lewis county. Duroc and Chester White breeders both plan to organize at once. Some of the advantage of a breeders' organization, outlined by Agent Vetter, are:

1. To develop closer unity amongst the breeders.
2. To have joint sales — one may not have enough for a sale.
3. To advertise jointly and thus reduce costs. It pays to advertise.
4. To establish a standard for entries in sales.
5. To promote and increase the breeds in the county.
6. To encourage boys' and girls' clubs in using the breeds.
7. Can help to get culls put on the market and not sold as breeders.
8. Very well for them to join with other breeds in sales and in building sales pavilions.
9. In unity is strength, and can gain more as groups than as individuals in all matters.

Limestone pulveriser demonstrations were held in St. Louis county recently when the crushers were operated in a competitive test. Soil analysis was made on the ground by the county agent and there also were demonstrations by spreaders, tractors and tandem disc. P. F. Schowengerdt, soil specialist from the college of agriculture, assisted the county agent. He declared that lime applied to soils where it is needed returns a profit of 75 per cent on the investment, as proven by 25 experiments in Missouri. He added that last year, St. Clair county, Illinois, used more lime than all of Missouri's counties combined.

Dairymen of Jasper and Newton counties, who serve the milk consuming public of Joplin, have united in the formation of a branch of the Newton County Farm Bureau for their self protection, they assert. It was announced after the organization meeting that a central distributing station for milk is to be established with a pasteurizing plant in connection. In return for the improvements they plan, the dairymen are demanding that Joplin city officials standardize their regulatory demands and cease what the milk producers call persecution.

Officers and members of the DeKalb County Farm Bureau have instructed their county agent, V. B. Sheldon, to go ahead with his work, and have voluntarily announced that they will see that the membership is held at least equal to that of last year. DeKalb county had 837 paid up members in 1920. Many farmers who have not hitherto belonged to the farm bureau are joining the organization there now.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pierpoint and sons, Milford, Floyd and Ernest of Wichita, Kansas, visited at the home of Ralph Pierpoint Monday and Tuesday.

Gives Ten 'Good Reasons' for Signing County Unit Petitions

The executive committee of the Missouri State Teachers Association has compiled the following "ten good reasons" for signing the referendum petitions on the County Unit Law:

First Reason.

The County Unit Law makes possible first class schools for country boys and girls. If you are opposed to good schools for country boys and girls, sign the petition.

Second Reason.

The County Unit Law equalizes the burden of education. If you favor rich districts paying a low tax rate for schools and poor districts paying a high tax rate, sign the petition.

Third Reason.

The County Unit Law insures the same length of term for each school in the Unit. If you believe in providing a four-month school for one child and an eight-month school for another child in the same county, sign the petition.

Fourth Reason.

The County Unit Law guarantees a high school opportunity for each boy and girl. If you believe that the majority of the country boys and girls should not have free high school opportunities, sign the petition.

Fifth Reason.

The present small school district system wastes more than $1,000,000 each year in Missouri thru the employment of more teachers than are needed for the number of children taught. If you favor the continuation of this waste, sign the petition.

Sixth Reason.

The $1,000,000 now wasted annually would under the County Unit Law provide high school education for 16,000 boys and girls each year. If you think that these 16,000 boys and girls should each year be denied a high school education as is now the case in Missouri, sign the petition.

Seventh Reason.

The County Unit Law guarantees better country schools than we now have. If you think that the country schools are good enough, sign the petition.

Eighth Reason.

The County Unit Law means a square deal for every boy and girl. If you do not believe in a square deal for every boy and girl, sign the petition.

Ninth Reason.

The County Unit Law passed in the interest of better public schools. If you do not believe in the American ideal of free public education for all children, sign the petition.

Tenth Reason.

Everyone knows that hundreds of thousands of families have moved from the country to the city in order to secure better schools for their children. If you want to continue this movement, sign the petition.

You desire to be fair, therefore, you will not sign the County Unit petitions (Committee Substitute for House Bill 128) until you have read and studied the law carefully.

GROWERS SAVE BY ACTING IN CONCERT

ADVANTAGES SHOWN BY RESULTS IN APPLE INDUSTRY.

ADDS ADVERTISING POWER

Orchards of Pacific Northwest Were Going to Ruin Until Owners Began to Co-operate.

This is the third article in a series on cooperative marketing, written for the International News Service by J. F. Langner, co-operative marketing adviser.

Apples grown in Oregon and Washington are shipped all over this country and to England, France, Germany and Scandinavia. The Pacific Northwest boxed apple, in all its varieties, is known in every market where apples are consumed.

From 1906 to 1912 apples by the thousands of acres were planted until 200,000 acres were covered. Every train brought more people from the East. The rush for "apple land attained the proportions of a stampede. Buyers came and camped all Summer bidding against each other for the producers' patronage. Remarkable prices were secured—for a time—prices made by the farmers, not by the buyers. In those days there were only 2,000 cars of apples produced in all the Northwest and Chicago and New York absorbed all that small quanitity.

Later, the quantity of apples increased as the new orchards began to bear. Soon the territory was producing 10,000 carloads, and Chicago and New York begged the growers to ship their apples elsewhere. But where?

Neither the grower nor anyone else could tell. Certainly the buyer could not tell. Soon the by-word became "over-production." Too many apples; the apple boom was wrecked. Many orchards had been bought at fabulous prices. Mortgages in some cases were more than the sale value of the land. Even banks and money lenders lost faith in the apple industry. The whole industry was ruined because of an overwhelming surplus which broke prices to less than cost of production. Thousands of growers gave up and went through bankruptcy.

Ruinous Competition Stopped.

From 1912 to 1915 there were dark days in the apple industry. In 1915 the Federal Government suggested that the growers organize a tri-State co-operative marketing association, including Oregon, Washington and Idaho. The Fruit Growers Agency was formed as a clearing house through which all Northwestern apples should be sold. It eliminated ruinous competition between the growers; it helped develop new markets. until by 1917, instead of sending apples to New York and Chicago the growers were sending apples to over 1,000 markets. The growers advertised their brands—Skookum, Hood River, Mistland, Big Y—are household words to the consumer to-day. But the Fruit Growers Agency, despite Government assistance, was ultimately disbanded because growers, no matter how hard may be hit, are psychologicany in capable of sucking together unless they are forced to do so by hide-bound legal contracts such as are used now by all the farmers' associations. Aaron Sapiro, of California, is now acting as general legal counsel for the farmers' associations.

Pacific Northwest boxed apples are the highest graded apples on the market at this time. One of the most stringent regulations of that territory is that all boxes leaving the district shall be carefully graded, free from worms and other disease — in fact shall be food which is fit for human consumption.

Graded by Machinery.

These associations all advertise and market their apples under well-known brands. No producer is trusted to pack his apples of uniform quality all through. The apples are graded by machinery, and more than 15,000,000 boxes are shipped to the East and abroad every year, each containing from 60 to 100 apples every apple carefully wrapped by hand, to ensure its arriving in the consumer market in perfect condition. Thirty thousand carloads of apples are now annually shipped from these three State worth from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000.

The apple industry of the Pacific Northwest, through organization for proper merchandizing and grading has become one of the basic agricultural industries of the territory. There are reported to be more than 25,000 apple growers in the three States. As an example of the importance of the industry it might be added that one association alone maintains more than forty apple packing houses in addition to which it owns cold storage plants at shipping stations, the whole representing an investment of several millions dollars. Truly an example of the power of organized farming in the interest of producer and consumer alike.

The newest organization, the Wenatche Apple Growers' Association, organized by Aaron Sapiro in March, will market collectively 4,200 carloads of apples annually for the next six years.

The Life Story of Georges Carpentier

INSTALLMENT SIX

By James J. Corbett.
Former World's Heavyweight Champion.

(Written expressly for International News Service).

(Copyright, 1921, by International News Service).

Cleveland, June 8.—Any attempt to gauge Georges Carpentier's ability to copy with a fighter of Jack Dempsey's type, using past performances of the Frenchman as a basis, would be a waste of time.

In sizing up the invading heavyweight contender, therefore, we must remember always that he has never met a battler of the rushing type like Dempsey and what he will be able to do against much an attack on July 2 is problematic.

Carpentier has met a number of big men and his showing against them proves beyond a doubt that size alone is no handicap to him, for he has floored Wells, Smith, Beckett and Jeanette and this means something.

I do not consider Carpentier's victories over Wells or Beckett important enough to discuss at any length. Wells, big and pretty clever, was as putty in Georges' hands. Beckett was like so much beef and all Georges had to do was batter him down.

Carpentier's fights against Jeanette and Smith, however, are well worth while discussing in brief.

Joe Jeanette in his hay day was one of the best men in the ring. He had cleverness, a cool head and was a punched as well. In 1914 when he met Carpentier and won a decision over him in 15 rounds, Dusky Joe was good enough to stand before any man. He had fought Jack Johnson, McVey, Langford and a host of others and he knew the game inside out.

In the very first round against Carpentier he made Georges realize he was master of boxing and won the Frenchman's respect right off by easily avoiding his punches and tapping him playfully in return. Before the first round ended they clinched. As they came out of it Carpentier, who had determined to make an aggressive fight, shot his favorite one-two to Jeanette's head and down went Joe with surprise written all over him. After that Jeanette reached his cunning and science to good effect and though Carpentier rocked him hard in the eighth and ninth rounds, he could not have strength enough to defeat his man while Jeanette's wonderful stamina kept him going. The judges gave Joe the decision at the end of 15 rounds and Carpentier was a badly disappointed young man but he had learned one of the greatest lessons of his career and afterwards the things he learned from big Joe made him a better fighter.

PARNELL AND SHERIDAN CONSIDER ELECTRIC LIGHTS

Will Probably Take Current From Maryville Plant—King City Line Now Open.

Parnell and Sheridan will soon be added to the list of towns surrounding Maryville which are receiving power from the Maryville Electric Light and Power Company, according to Manager C. C. Hellmers.

Manager Hellmers appeared before the Parnell city council last night and laid the company's proposition before them. The council was appointed a committee to investigate the plan further. There will be a similar meeting at Sheridan tonight, and it is likely that the two towns will go in together on the project. Manager Hellmers will attend the meeting there.

After these meetings there will be a joint meeting in about ten days and if the plans run smoothly both of the towns will be supplied with electricity by fall.

The lines between Maryville and King City have been completed and the power has been flowing over the wires for the past two weeks. Following is a clipping from the May 27 issue of the Tri-County News, published at King City:

"You may not have known it, but you have been burning Maryville juice since Monday—that is, most of the time since Monday. Power off the Maryville 'high line' was turned on Monday morning.

"And contentions of other towns to the contrary notwithstanding, it is good power, better than King City has ever had before. The power is steady and apparently there is plenty of it, and it runs twenty-four hours a day instead of eighteen as before.

"Electric lights are generally little brighter on Maryville current than on the power manufactured here but power users say the motors do not run quite so fast as they did on 'home brew.'

"The King City light plant is being operated now only a few hours each day, during the peak load. After a few months when a new negerator unit is installed in the plant at Maryville, the plant here will be shut down for keeps. The local plant is run only from about 7 until 10 o'clock at night.

"About half the town is on Maryville continously, the remainder of the load being switched to the local plant during peak hours."

The following towns are now being furnished electricity from the plant here: Ravenwood, Conception, Conception Junction, Stanberry, Arkoe, Barnadr, Guilford, Rea, Bolckow, Rosendale, King City, Pickering, Wilcox, Burlington Junction, and Clearmont.

OLD AGE, HIS MARK!

Oliver Wendell Holmes, in the charming discourses of "The Professor at the Breakfast Table," refers to an unmistakable sign of old age. It is three parallel lines between the brows. We can detect the first traces of disease by signs just as plain.

When a woman suffers from backache, nervous depression, dragging-down pains, and those ailments peculiar to women, it is plain that she needs a women's medicine. What other medicine could she more wisely resort to than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for half a century has proved the natural restorative for these troubles?—Adv.
